Club Grubbery - Raw transcript of interview:

2026-03-19 - Graham and John with a post NZ wrap-up

Good day, Johnny.

Good day. Hoodie. How you going buddy?

I'm good, mate. Thursday, the Thursday the 19th of March. I'm saying the date today because we're recording this and I'm gonna put it straight out. Um, yeah, it's been a while since we've done something because uh, I've been away and, uh, over in the land of the long white cloud and, uh, we had that little, little post from New Zealand, didn't we the other day about the IHR.

Yeah, geez. There was some interest in that.

There was mate. And, um, we've got some, uh, we've got a little bit of influence happening in New Zealand, so we've put the call out for Winston Peters to come on and talk about it, but apparently they've written to the, uh, WHO and said, yeah, no, uh, any health decisions that are gonna be made for New Zealand Zealanders that we made in Wellington and not Geneva, which is a great response.

But I tell you, mate, from what I'm seeing over there. Wellington has gotta make a lot better choices than it has.

Mm-hmm.

They're still persecuting the daylights outta the doctors. It's just unbelievable what's going on over there.

Wow. It, it's hard to believe, isn't it? Even with that, uh, goodwill and intent from, uh, very senior, uh, politicians in, in that country that that's still, uh, going on.

Oh, mate. It, it's just incredible. They're, they're part two Royal Commission. It was a whitewash. It was an absolute whitewash. And, but you know, there are some wins in there. And I'll tell you what the wind showed themselves because Michelle and Michelle and I went over there with, uh, a church pastor from America who joined us, pastor Ron Kelly.

Mate, I'll tell you what, what a champion. He, um, he led his church through the COVID mandates in the United States and, um, he's been a real champion for liberty of conscience. And, uh, we spent four days at a, at a faith camp over there, three or four days. It was just, um, awesome to team up with him. But then pretty much at the 11th hour, they threw a community of unity gathering together about, uh, five hours from where we were, where we were at the camp.

And that was in Palmerston North? Yep. And we turned up there. I was the keynote speaker. I was the only speaker really, but they had a couple of the doctors And Sue Gray was there. Doctors from N-Z-D-S-O-S, um, and they spoke for about 10 minutes each. And then I, I had a one hour presentation, but mate thrown together at the last minute, 600 people.

It's a lot of people, they're on fire over there, mate. They really are. You know, and, uh, you know, questions was asked, were asked about who su who put in, uh, submissions to the Royal Commission. Nearly all of the 600 people put their hands up. I mean, they're active. You know, we've gotta get active, John, we've gotta get active.

Yeah. It's a shame. It's a shame we're not as active, I suppose, but, uh, yeah, let's, let's hope that they have some winds over there. 'cause they filter here.

They do. And I, I said to the crowd as, as an opener, I said, look, we're, we're grateful to you guys for allowing us to be your neighbors.

Mm-hmm.

Uh, we're grateful that you forgave us for the underarm bowling incident.

Uh, we're grateful that you teach us how to play rugby, but there's one thing we're not grateful for. I said, we're not a toxic dump and we've now got Jacinda er, and so all, all debts are paid off because we're stuck with her and we don't want any more of that trash bin sent over to Australia. I loved it.

They all said, you can keep it. We don't wanna. But, um, yeah, yeah. She's a, I tell you, I, I, that's more than wipe the slate clean, uh, hoodie. In fact, I, I'm wondering now whether we should be, uh, we should be asking to move to New Zealand.

Exactly, mate. Why, why shouldn't we? Yeah. I mean, let's go, let's all go over to New Zealand and sort the, the joint out.

Get behind all those people that are doing the great work there and get these politicians sorted out.

Maybe that's the island. That's the island hoodie.

That's the island. Yeah. But I'll tell you what, the Kiwis, they're just beautiful people, mate. We are blessed to have 'em as neighbors and we love 'em. And, um, and, uh, you know, they're great.

They're, they're pushing for Michelle and I to go over there to do a one month community of Unity tour this year. Uh, they're gonna organize it. We just said we'll do 12 events over there. Um, but judging by the turnout at, uh, Palmerston North. You know what was really good was to see all these different faction leaders from the Freedom Movement over there all come together.

They work together.

Yeah.

There's none of this, you know, shooting each other in the back and all this garbage that we go on with over here. Um, they were, they were united for that event and, uh, they said they do have disagreements, but they don't need them in public and they, they keep it straight, you know?

Mm-hmm.

So we can learn a lot from the Kiwis now, what's been happening here in us, Johnny.

Well, what hasn't been happening hoodie, I I think there was a fair bit of excitement the other day when, uh, when you let that, uh, information out about the WHOI think that, that, that really was, uh, uh, a real, um, powerhouse moment.

Uh, and, and a lot of people would be wondering here, what, why we're not doing the same thing, but that, that's a whole nother segment, I suppose. Um, but. Look, there's been some, uh, good things happening. I, I, I, I dunno whether we've covered off on it, but, uh, John Ruddick, uh, has certainly, uh. Uh, got the, uh, new South Wales Police Commissioner to, uh, agree to meeting the, uh, families and police officers of, of, uh, of New South Wales police that were sacked, uh, during the COVID period.

And I, I think this is a real litmus test for, um, agencies across Australia as to as to how they're gonna handle this hoodie. Um, now there there'll obviously be a lot of, uh, um, interest in, in this, uh, from a media perspective as well because, uh, it, it, it really is, uh, a, an interesting point in time, I think, uh, we've got a commissioner who, uh.

Uh, you know, it probably came into the role, uh, having had a couple of hiccups, uh, in his own career. And, uh, the, the government, I think rightly has said, well, look, uh, you know, on the whole, we, we think you're the right fit, uh, for this top job. And, uh, you know, we can wear those couple of indiscretions. And even if they view, uh, what's gone on here as an indiscretion, which we don't, uh, we, we absolutely don't believe it's an indiscretion.

But I mean, even if you were to view it that way, then, then surely, uh, uh, the, the road forward from here, hoodie has to be to allow these guys to come back to work.

Absolutely. And that needs to, excuse me, that needs that, uh, little catch up needs to, uh, spread across to paramedics. Johnny Lauder needs to go back to work.

Well, it needs to go across every sector really. I think, uh, you know, it doesn't matter where we go, it doesn't matter. Uh, every time you open up an email, somebody else is affected. And, uh, whether they're working in a coffee shop or, or, uh, working for a government agency, it doesn't seem to have any, uh. And he, it doesn't seem to have any point of difference at all.

They just, uh, were mad during that period and so many people, in so many industries were, were affected. And, uh, I suppose that's where we head on, uh, next, which is an amazing, uh, turnaround hoodie and, and some. We'll, we'll say, um, remarkable. In fact, in fact, I, I, I know Michael Gray Griffith has been talking about this with, with Carl Stefano.

Now a lot of people are very upset, uh, as we know about, um, Carl, uh, essentially, uh, interviewing people and, and, and telling. Uh, a, a different narrative. Um, um, I, I'm of the view that, uh, you know, we have to let all that go. And I think, uh, uh, you know, if Carl, uh, is, is, is, uh, is willing to do that. Uh, and, and he appears to be absolutely genuine as far as I'm concerned.

Uh, then, then we have to, we have to go with that. Um, and, and we should be celebrating it really. Um, I'm not sure why we're, why we're not because, uh, as, as was, uh, the case last night, I mean, this, this is. This is just unbelievable stuff that, uh, Ali Langdon, uh, is introducing on a current affair. Hoodie.

Exactly.

Vaccine, injured, uh, stories. I mean, who would've thought he would've thought? Now, Johnny, we have maintained incessantly for four years. We are not gonna win this until we get to a tipping point where more people wake up. And the only way we're gonna do that, we filled the bubble, our own bubble with all the people who listen to us all the time.

We have to break out in the mainstream. We've been, how often have we said this?

Yeah.

And we could see Carl, uh, shuffling in his seat on the Today Show several times when he was not happy with the vaccine. And we had that campaign. Come on, Carl. Remember. Come on, Carl, now. When he came out, I was wrapped. And I'm gonna encourage the daylights out of him to keep going and everybody else, because look, I understand why people are angry.

I really do. But we can't. That's not gonna help us. We've gotta stop scaring other people who might be about to come out back into the rabbit hole. Because there will be people who've heard Carl Stefano apologize, who were asleep during the whole thing, who were gonna say crap, you know? We've gotta encourage these people.

Good on you, Carl. Good on you. Keep it going and, and, uh, you have our full support with your podcast. Everything else you're doing.

Hundred percent.

I mean, we've gotta get over this controlled opposition bullshit and all the other stuff that we carry on with. As I said, I understand. People are triggered. We haven't had any justice.

Um, and are we likely to see justice? Well, not if we keep, you know, handing the people who have changed their minds and come out and said that we were right. I mean, you know, come on. Are you meant to be a freedom movement? If you are, then allow people to be free to say what they need to say and make their choices when they make them.

So Carl Stefano in my book has gone up a long way and, uh, we could see it coming. We could see it coming years ago, John. And, um, yeah, we, we'd love to interview him and we'd love to be interviewed by him. Gladly. So, yep, a hundred percent. Well, I, I think what it's also done too, hoodie, is it's elevated these politicians who we think are, are Backable, uh, yeah.

People like, uh, Senator Alexander now, you know, completely sensible. Uh, people, um, that really outside of our window haven't had, uh, the, the, the, the attention that they should be getting. Uh, because these people have got, got good, good, uh, answers. You know, they, they, they are, they're going to take this country forward in, in the right direction, and they should have a platform.

And, and, and if Carl's the one that can help, uh, get them into the. Television sets of those who, uh, have no idea what's going on, then I think that's a great thing.

Yeah. So give him a break. Everybody. Cut him a bit of slack. And, uh, over in New Zealand, they're the same. They've got a guy over there in the New Zealand media who was apparently a real, a real dog as far as, uh, getting people to get vaccinated.

He's come out with a half-assed apology as well, and they're handing him, and, and, you know, people, people who sit down and think a little bit are saying, well, hang on a minute. That's not gonna encourage anyone else to come out. Now, someone approached me the other day and said, Carl Stefano will prove his credentials if he donates all the money that he made from the COVID vaccines to give to the vaccine injured.

It's a lovely thought, but that's not gonna further the cause. The best thing that can happen for the vaccine injured is for this debacle to be seen in the cold, hard light of day by every Australian so that every vaccine injured person gets a $6 million payout. Like, um, like Chris Nemo did, he's been on our show several times.

Good on you, Chris. 6 million bucks. You've earned every dollar of it. But what about the tax office? $2.4 million in tax.

Wow. Hey,

you know, the government, you know, gives on one hand and takes on the other. Now come on elbow for goodness sake, show a bit of. Bloody decency and give the, I mean, get 'em to back off.

You shouldn't be paying tax on a payout like that. That's just absurd.

Well, I think what it does too, hoodie it brings, uh, another, uh, equation into this because I mean, if this is going on with a vaccine, then this is likely going on with people that have been injured. From a broken leg or a broken back?

Yeah.

Uh, physical injuries as well. I mean, I, I I, I'm imagining that the a TS is smashing these people up as well.

Yeah.

Uh, and look, that can't be the case. You know, the idea of these payments is that, uh, you know, these people, uh, given the opportunity. To, uh, you know, make their lives comfortable, um, into the future.

And I don't mean comfortable by drinking Moe Champagne. I mean comfortable because they can get somebody to put them in the shower if they have to, or yes.

Or yeah. Like, that's where the real issues are

Now. If Chris Nemo can get, uh, that kind of payout, that set a precedent and good on you, Chris, you worked really hard to get that.

You did everything through channels. You did it well. And nobody that I would know would begrudge you a dollar of what you got. Um, was it excessive? No way on God's earth was that excessive? No way in the world, especially with everything going up the way it is. Uh, and so more power to you. And speaking of, uh, prices going up, uh, fuel, um, now I, I've got a little bit of intel on that.

Um, I spoke to a country fuel distributor. Who I get my fuel from, uh, where I live in the bush on the farm. And he said, and he, he agrees wholeheartedly that this crisis we've got now is because of panic buying by people in, in the, in the cities.

Yeah.

They're filling up their jerry cans, they're going nuts.

And, uh, he under he understood, he said, but truly, there are millions and millions of leaders in Brisbane. Some of that fuel has been there from way before the, the war started in with Iran, and he's flabbergasted at why we're paying a dollar extra for diesel in that period when the fuel that's there has already been bought and paid for.

Yeah.

Uh, at price hiking is unbelievable. He also told me that, um, that, uh, semi-trailers and b doubles down the New England Highway and other highways. The Newell Highway, when the drivers pull over to sleep, they wake up in the morning and their tanks have been drained. I know an earth moving contractor near me who's got, uh, equipment parked in the bush in the forestry and his dozers and trucks and all that have been drained of diesel.

People are stealing diesel. Um, now this, this is a taste of what's coming. Everybody needs to prepare. You need to be ready because we are gonna see anarchy on a grand scale. It's like the toilet paper crisis that we had three years ago. John people have got to band together and form communities. That's why hoodies, heroes so important.

Get onto Facebook, go and look for hoodies, heroes, and start a group. Join a group. Uh, it's all about working together to support one another, to share and to bar. But, um, one local survey near me said that his fuel sales have dropped right off, even though he's got some. All the panic buyers are using up the diesel that they've got nowhere to put now.

So they're emptying their Jerry cans and they're not buying at the Bowser. So my mate, who's pretty switched on, who drives the fuel truck, he said hoodie, if people stop panic buying there, there wouldn't be as much of a crisis. And he blamed the media straight up. He said, the media's beating the crap out of this and they need to pull their heads in.

I dunno what you're seeing down south, mate, but that's what's going on up here.

No, I think it's a similar situation down here, but, but there are a number of service stations, I think in, in rural towns that have been left without fuel. Yeah, they are. And, and, and look, the, the difficulty is, and once again I, I suppose, uh, it comes back to the media, comes back to the government.

I mean, when you've got a sudden price hike of a dollar a liter, uh, and sometimes more, I think people aren't buying the fuel because. They're concerned, we're gonna run out. I think they're buying it because they don't wanna be paying another $2 in a month's time. Uh, and that's what they're really nervous about.

Uh, so, you know, once again, here we are. It is back to cost of living, isn't it? And if, if the government, uh, put a price cap on, on the fuel and said, right, it's not to be sold at any, uh, above this price, then, then, you know, maybe things might settle down. I mean, I, as you say, I, I don't understand. When fuel's already in the ground and farham, there seems to be a, a, a, a petrol station every five yards these days.

Uh, I, I know driving into Wagga, you, you, you, you seem to drive past about 10, uh, before you even get to the main street. So, I dunno who's, you know, I don't know pre this problem. Who's using these? Uh, I dunno how they, they, they, they stay afloat. Um, 'cause there just seems to be so many of them.

Yeah, so I, I think, you know, cool heads need to prevail.

The farmers need the fuel. The, the good news about the, um, the dirty fuel, if the government ever gets the paperwork done, there's the sulfur rich fuel. Um, you know, my mate was telling me that's all going out west to the miners and to the farmers that are gonna operate their headers on it because of the environmental concerns around cities.

So he sent a lot of high performance diesel cars won't run on it. So he said, rest assured we won't see it in city or suburban areas. It'll just be used by the miners. The miners. Some of the miners have shut down operations 'cause they haven't got any diesel for their, their trucks. So we've got a whole bunch of miners at home on furlough at the moment.

Um, so look, things are pretty grim, but this highlights once again why we need governments to make hard decisions when times are good.

Mm,

we should have had at least 90 days fuel sufficiency before this happened. We were meant to, according to the International Energy Agency. Well, Australia Diesel. Yeah.

Australia has the lowest reserves.

Mm.

Of all the people in that agency, the lowest. It's just, you know, Japan has more than we do.

Well, and I think too Woody, uh, you know, there's so many people that are using diesel outside of their cars, you know, camps, mining camps are using it, for instance. Um, yeah. So, you know, I've been told that mining camps are using 60,000 liters a day.

Yeah, yeah. Uh, it's just, it's just, it's, it should wake people up. Now, I, I saw a diesel train go past today. Um, they're all gonna stop.

Mm-hmm.

Those big trains that run all the coal and the, and the, and the iron ore around the countryside to, you know, to keep Australia's revenue flow going, they're gonna stop.

I mean, it's, it's unsustainable. What about generators to power hospitals?

Yeah.

Uh, we're off the grid. We rely on a diesel generator, but you know, we, you can get by, you can just cut back on your power usage and you, you can say, but there's so much we rely on diesel for and the greenies. I mean, what about, did you see the debate with Barnaby Joyce and, um.

Tanya Libber sick.

Oh, you know, she said, at least Barnaby, this highlights the need for electric cars. And he said, when when's the last time you saw an electric semi? When's the last time you saw an electric header? What a moronic reply. I mean, that, that's not, that Comment's not gonna age very well.

Uh, look, these people are in fairy land, there's no doubt about it.

Uh, it

And how would, how would you rate blackout Bowen's performance in the last two weeks? John?

Shocking. Uh, he's the worst politician in Canberra. In fact, he's probably one of the worst human beings in Australia. I don't know else you, you sum him up.

Unbelievable gaslighting people. One minute and then, you know, saying we don't have a problem, and then hitting the panic button.

How can anyone have any faith in this go?

It can't. They're the, they're the worst of all time. There's, there's absolutely no question about it. They, they're, uh, they're, they're playing from an absolute communist playbook. Uh, they're an absolute shocker.

Yeah. Another thing, mate, talking about politics. I was over in New Zealand and everyone was talking about it over there.

Senators Faruki payment and Thorpe standing in a photo with their fist raise, calling the rest of us virtually white trash. If you are white, you're racist.

Yep.

Now you idiots. You've been elected to parliament. You know, I dunno, how many of you have been reelected? You've been reelect elected into the Senate.

This country is so racist. It's given you a voice to help make decisions for us. The white people who you hate and you obviously hate white people. You really do. And you've got the temerity to go to the media and call Australian whites, white people, racist. You are furthering racism. You are furthering division.

You were trusted to do your jobs. You were voted in by your, your constituents to represent all Australians, not to push your barrows. And as far as I'm concerned, I can't wait for you to be elected out of office. You don't deserve the privilege. The country that you think is racist gave you the privilege

Yep.

Of a high paid job in the Senate. You've been given an opportunity to represent this country. Properly, normally with a discipline that you fail to see, you haven't got it. You are an absolute disgrace, the three of you. And you need to be out. You need to be out. And that's not because we are racist, it's because you are racist.

Well, and John Ruddick raising in Parliament today, uh, hoodie, uh, the fact that in uh, UK the police are knocking on people's doors about social media, uh, posts. Uh, and he's indicating, uh, that he expects the New South Wales police will follow in the same vein here.

Well, they'll probably knock on my door for what I'm about to say, because I tell you what I'm noticing around the world at the moment that the people of the world are sick of.

Every time geopolitical Israel gets a rash, the whole world has to scratch. People are getting done with that and all this religious favor about we've gotta support Israel, we've gotta support Israel. They're, that's all Bible context taken out of context. That's not how it is. It's about supporting. It's about supporting spiritual Israel, not geopolitical Israel.

I mean, how long is this gonna go on for? And we've got some politicians who were calling for troops on the ground, Australian troops on the ground. Now I spoke to a guy who runs a cadet unit in Queensland, a high school cadet unit. And he told me he went to a conference, an army conference about cadets.

And, uh, enlistment. And these are the figures straight from the conference. John. There are more high school cadets in the, in the Australian army than there are soldiers in the Australian army. There are 24,000 cadets and 19,000 active servicemen in the Australian army, and we've got politicians calling for boots on the ground in Iran.

Now, have you heard who these politicians are? I've heard rumors. Do you know who they're, no, I haven't. Um. But, uh, you could probably take some wild guesses, but we probably shouldn't.

No, we won't. Until that's all verified. But, so keep looking out. Now, if you know any, any politician who's calling for Aussie kids, Aussie men and women to be sent to that front line mm-hmm.

Um, then they need to, they need to have their head read. They've got no idea. The state of the Australian military, how many active, uh, frigates do we have? I think we've got five, uh, guided missile frigates, and I think only one of them is active because they don't have enough sail. Well, that, that's what it was last year.

Um, that'd be probably worse than that now.

Yeah. And I, I, to be honest with you, I don't think we should have, um, RF uh, aircraft in the Middle East at the moment either. I, I think, I don't think that's helpful at all. I think our contribution is so minuscule. It's a joke. Um, I, I, I think, uh, I think we need to stay well outta the way at the moment over there.

Um, and you know, what was it, 45 Abrams tanks sent from the Australian army to, to Ukraine.

Yeah.

And what are we, how many surface to air missiles have we sent to the Middle East? I mean, are we that flush with munitions? You know, I used to talk with Air Force pilots who flew, um, F eighteens and F1 elevens and they, they drop practice dummy bombs at Evan's head, little toy things because they can't afford to use munitions for practicing and training on.

Every time you send a missile off you, you know, some of those, um, patriot missiles over in, they're foreign in Israel. I think they're, somebody said the other day, they're upwards of 2 million bucks a piece.

Wow.

And you're foreign, thousands of the things into the air. I mean, it's just nuts. Absolutely nuts.

So, you know, a lot of people need to wake up and smell the roses in Canberra. This, this country is not. Has been let go of the dog so much that we cannot afford to get involved. We can't afford it. From a, from a, a, a human perspective. We don't have the manpower, nor do we have the resources. And that should be an indictment on the generals and, and, um, and leaders of our military because they've let this happen on their watch.

It's reprehensible. What's going on, John?

There's very weak generals. There's no doubt about that.

Yep. And they, and they're, they're too busy being woke and playing the woke game. Um, there's too many of them, uh, I mean, they, they seem to be, uh, cast of thousands. I mean, where, where there, there was a real hierarchy, you know, probably 30 years ago.

There isn't now. Every man, his dog seems to have more salad than Sizzler.

Exactly, exactly. Now here's the thing. We were told a year ago that the Chinese military have 26,000 Special forces soldiers. Their version of our, um, of our special forces is 26,000 strong. They outnumber our entire army.

Wow.

By a factor of, uh, you know, maybe almost half.

Geez.

That's just special forces. I mean, who are we kidding, John?

No, its all. It's all posturing. There's no way, there's no way in the world that, uh, you know, I look at the end of the day, I think a lot of this stuff, uh, you know, these wars, the, the technology now with drones and all this sort of stuff, it's just outrageous.

Uh, you know, there probably, probably isn't even really a real need for fighter jets, really. Uh, but you know, it's all about, uh, uh, you know, show really.

Yeah. I, I, it's posturing, as you say, it's posturing. Now the country's in a mess, John, and look, but it's just showing more and more that, uh, all this stuff was predicted in Matthew 24 in the Bible, the Book of Revelation.

All these things have been predicted for 2000 years. Um, we know it's coming. Anybody who reads the Bible knows what's coming. And we have to be prepared spiritually, mentally, financially, physically. Um, we have to start thinking rationally. Um, and we're not. We're too busy with political correctness and, and, um, and, and, you know, putting on a mask, pretending that we're something we're not.

This country has been gone to the, we said to Jared, we said to Jared Rennick John, when last time we interviewed him, uh, does this country have the capability to restore its car industry? And, and I was so pleased with his answer, because the real measure of a, of a country's industrial capacity is if it can produce its own cars.

Yep.

We need Holdens and Fords back on the road again.

Well, I, and I think, uh, you know, to, to, to be positive towards the end here, hoodie. I, I, I think that's, uh, something that was really. Good about Carl's, uh, interview with, with, uh, both Jared and Alex, um, that, that, uh, these issues were brought up in relation to, to Jared, um, Jared's own party folding in with One Nation, perhaps.

And, uh, certainly it sounds like there is discussions going on in the background, so. I mean, all these things are very positive. Uh, and I think if the mainstream is also picking up on that, then, then that's, uh, that's good. Um, I, I, I can see, uh, uh, this embracing one nation, embracing everyone else, uh, a, a, a really positive thing going forward, because I think that's where the momentum is.

Yeah. Just hope Pauline doesn't get lost with all this pro-Israel stuff. Um. Because that's divisive stuff. People can make up their own minds about that. But I mean, well, I think we have to get back to the domestic stuff, Woody. I mean, that's focus on the domestics, that's the key to it. You know, look, just worry about what's going on in our own backyard before we start wandering into, into, uh, trespassing in others' backyards.

I mean, it's not, it, it never ends well, never ends well politically or in any other way, militarily either. So, um, yeah, lots, lots to get out there. John, what else do you know?

What else do we know? Uh, you're putting me on the spot here. There's boy. There's always plenty going on. Um, but look, I, I, I think, uh, I'm really impressed.

Uh, hoodie, I've gotta say with, with the, with with the sharing that's been going on on the social media, uh, especially in relation to, um, uh, you know, uh, posts that have been coming up. Um, because historically we, we would see, uh, shares are low. Likes are, you know, quite high and, and, and comments, you know, but there's been a lot of sharing of content and I think this is really, really good.

Um, so I think it's having a, a significant impact out there, guys. So the more you can share the, the, the, the better that is for, uh, for, for getting this out. Because I mean, now that people like Carl Stefano are, are actively in this space, uh, there'll be people looking at, at stuff. Um. That, that, uh, he's tagged into, for instance.

So, so let's, uh, let's make sure we keep that, that sharing, uh, of the content, uh, going really strong. Um, and I, and I, I think the other thing, there's two, two things coming up, Woody, which, which are obviously gonna be of interest. And that's south though. We've got the South Australian election. Yeah, I think that that is gonna be, uh.

Uh, pretty interesting and, uh, we've obviously got this by-election in Farrah. So, yeah, let's see what, let's see what happens down there. But, uh, you know, I, I, I just really hope, uh, that Matt Canavan and, uh, Angus Taylor, uh, uh, don't dictate through their how to vote cards, uh, for, for people to, uh, vote. Uh, uh, other than the, uh, the one nation candidate.

Because look, at the end of the day, the, the, the, whether they're one nation, uh, w whether they're, uh, uh, a liberal, whether they're a national, essentially, you know, bar a few things, they're all on the same page. Uh, very, very similar ideologies. Uh, so why you would be. Directing outta it could only be outta spite.

I mean, it couldn't be for any other purpose why you would be telling your members to vote for a candidate who you know is potentially, uh, you know, like a teal, uh, is incredible to me. So I just hope they stand up. Hoodie.

Well, I need to read the room, Johnny, because if they start doing that, if they preference other candidates

Yeah.

Uh, it's only gonna shoot them in the foot. People are gonna say, you know, what game are you guys playing? So, yeah, come on, just let's look. People, people are raving on about Trump, like him or lump him. Uh, love him or hate him. The fact is he's got in and rattled the cage. In many ways it's been good. In other ways, not so good, but we need something to shift.

And Trump has led a fundamental shift in the way global politics are done. And we need the same thing to happen in Australia. We're sick of the uni party, we're sick of the limp wristed, prime ministers we've had on both sides, Albanese and Morrison. The last two, uh, they're just limp wristed. They've got no backbone, they've got no courage, and they do not have the country's best interest at heart, no matter what they say.

And it's time to make a change. Time to make a change and boy oh boy, I would love to see a coming together of the likes of Roberts and, uh, Renick and people like that. I hope that, that, uh, that war is, uh, sorted out in double quick time because we need people of that caliber.

Definitely. Yeah. It's, uh, and, and, uh, my personal message to Ralph Bette is, can you start playing the game properly and stop grandstanding all over the place?

He's such a disappointment to me, that bloke. He really is. I've got no time for Ralph Bette lately. And, um, um, I, I dunno what sort of game he's playing other than it's all ego driven and, um, so, um, yeah, that's, that probably puts an end to any interview we'd likely to have with him. But John, we've tried for four years to get an interview with him.

He's not interested,

I don't think we've had him on, have we?

We haven't. And we sat in his office one day with a bunch of really good people. Craig Kelly was there and he was playing on his phone the whole time. I mean, uh, sorry mate. Uh, and that's my safe for what it's worth. Uh, but anyway, it is what it is.

Mm-hmm.

Um, well Johnny, I reckon we need to get this one out there and, alright, buddy. Yeah. Good, good to have you back.

Good to be back. And we're, uh, Suzanne's working like mad to get some really good interviews happening again. We're gonna keep the content going, but I'm so glad you, you raised the sharing thing, John.

We've gotta get it shared.

Mm-hmm.

We've gotta get it shared. So, uh, more coming in this space. Keep watching. Um, let's have a prayer, eh, well, probably, uh, lastly too, hoodie, I mean, Andrew Bridge, attending that. Dutch, uh, um, I think amazing. Uh, so, you know, there'll obviously be a lot more, uh, coming to, uh, fruition about that, but keep that on your radar and we'll obviously try and get, uh, Andrew and, and others on to explain what's going on with that.

'cause it sounds like it's a very complicated thing.

Yeah. And um, Michelle read an article to me the other day. We were driving in New Zealand about the, um, Marshall Islands, Johnny back at, um, after World War II and into the fifties. The US detonated eight nuclear bombs tested them in the Marshall Islands and they gathered all the waste up, all the radioactive waste, and they buried it under a concrete dome.

Now, um, the environmentalists in the area are really concerned because the concrete do's cracking and radioactive leaching is gonna happen in the Pacific. Now, that is a major concern, but it also is, um. To me, it's like a parable about what's going on with the whole mess that the, the governments are in around the world.

The whole mess that the world is in at the moment.

Yep.

They have concealed all the filth of their actions. Tried to bury it under concrete.

Mm.

And the concrete's cracking and all that pus is gonna burst out. Johnny the volcano's gonna erupt. And the fact is, for all of you out there who thought we haven't, none of us have been able to achieve anything in the last four years we've been there with our little rock hammers.

Pounding away at the concrete and it's cracking. So don't give up now. Now it's not the time to give up.

Definitely not.

The globalists have overcooked their goose, and, uh, they're not, we're not gonna let 'em go, go down, um, without a good swift kick in the rear end from us.

That's true.

So, dear Lord, father in heaven, we just thank you, Lord, that we're able to come together.

We thank you for the wonderful, uh, reception we had in New Zealand. Um, and we thank you for all those people who support us over there. And, um. And the supporting truth. And, uh, Lord, we thank you for those mainstream media personalities who are coming late to the party may make a shift that we need to get more and more people awake to what's going on.

So, Lord, we leave it all in your hands because you know what's happening. You have the answers, and we pray that you guide and lead us in the right way, and that we follow you in Jesus' name. Amen.

Amen.

You've often been heard to say,

you just couldn't make this stuff up.

We're not. Good to have a little vent every now and then.

And thanks everyone for watching. Stay Outta the Trees. It's still a great country. Don't give these Mongols your serenity. Um, get out there and enjoy it while you can. God bless you all and we'll be back soon. Bye for now.

Yeah, Johnny, uh, just post recording that, uh, that little thing we did, that we discussed a couple of other things that are really relevant, uh, that people need to know about. Um. One of them is that, uh, a lot of people have been saying to me, what am I doing with all the money? Uh, and they're talking about, what are you doing with all the $4 a month?

And I had no idea what they were talking about, John, but there is apparently a guy who's set up a page mimicking me and he's charging $4 a month and he's got a hundred thousand followers.

Wow.

So people are thinking they're giving me $4 a month. Now that's 400 grand a month, John.

Wow. It's going okay.

This bloke,

he's doing all right, but I'll tell you what, face Facebook aren't the slightest bit interested. They don't care. Well, that tells you everything, uh, that tells you everything. So, John, do we ever ask anybody to subscribe or pay for merchandise or anything? We, we, we gave up merchandise. Look, there's a bit of merch.

There's a bit of a club grubby merchandise at Drifter still that's been there from years ago that, um, that Luke had loved to see go from the warehouse. So get onto uh, drifter.com au and um, and get some of that merchandise. I'm sure you'll sell it pretty cheap, but we don't charge subscriptions. No, no.

And, uh, all we do is occasionally try and help people where they need, need help. If someone needs a shout out, we'll we'll do it. Um, you know, people that have been good to us, like drifter, uh, you know, and uh, minority Pantry and all those, all those people that were in. Involved very early on. They were, they were very good.

Uh, they were great, you know? Yeah. Um, minority Pantry is no more. It's gone. Uh, they sold out and, um, so no more LA balls in Kaga.

No more LA balls.

So when you drive through there, you'll have to speak with a squeaky voice.

Very,

um, the

Cook Barrel store, I mean, OOD was, uh, the Cooker Barrel store.

Russell, he's still going.

Russell is still as full on as ever. And we had, we had time with him, uh, earlier in the year and we were up there barrel fishing. We caught up with Russell. He's an absolute joy. Um, definitely coastal caravans, Northern Tasmania. That's, uh, they were great and, um, you know, um, but you know, there are some interesting moneymaking ideas from people in this media space.

John,

there there are hu Yes, there's plenty of things, uh, trinkets and, uh. Scam. Uh, well, I, I call 'em scams. Uh, I'd be looking into these things, uh, very closely, um, if I, were you locked?

Yeah. And don't necessarily believe that if, uh, somebody you trust in, uh, an independent media space is trying to get money out of you, that they, that, that it's actually them.

It could be someone set up to look like them.

Yep.

But also, you know, the, the whole buy me a coffee thing. We've never, we've not, we've not done that.

No,

we've not done that. You know, some people send us a little donation every now and then, and sometimes, uh, you know, there are a couple of people who really believe in what we're doing that help us out and we love them dearly, but, you know, uh, but apparently John, we, we should go into a master class.

I was thinking about this hoodie. I, I mean, we, we could be, we could be the new Anthony Robbins, couldn't we? We could. Uh, is that, is that what that guy's name was?

Yeah. Anthony Robbins. Yeah, we could be the now what, what subject matter would we, what would, could we run a masterclass on? Uh, uh,

how to, how to lose your career in one easy video with one easy button, push button, uh, yeah.

Uh, how to upset governments.

How to turn your life upside down. Um, it is,

but apparently one person in the independent media species, uh, space is running a masterclass. Wow.

Wow.

And he's offering a discount, what is it? $290, I think. And you can do his masterclass. Well, I, I, yeah. Well, okay. More power to everybody.

Um, but, uh, I'm trying to think what we could do a masterclass in.

I don't think we could probably do one in anything he asked. What stick to doing this?

How, how to, how to annoy brand hazar. Do you look like? Yeah. Well, I actually, I could give a masterclass in that I could, he, uh, he, he didn't like, uh, me screaming at him at the front of Parliament House.

No doubt about that.

Yeah, it annoyed him. It annoyed him. Just trying to think of what I could do.

You could, you, you, you could, you could do a master class on how to run jets on, uh, some sort of dodgy fuel.

Yeah, I could do that. Yeah. Inventing a dodgy fuel and running it without, without testing it. That'd be good.

Yeah. I'd like to do a master class on catch and flathead, but there's too many people doing that already.

Yeah.

Uh, and then I'd have to spend time on the water to do Oh, there's a thought. Oh, that would be fun though. That would be fun. I could, I could see us in a boat.

Yeah. You and me. We could do, uh, we could do a masterclass in estuary fishing.

A fishing series.

Yeah. It could be the blind leading the blind. That would be be plenty of, plenty of fish getting off. I know that. Yeah.

Anyway, uh, we just, uh, yeah, we thought we'd throw this in at the end because, uh, we're just talking about what's going on around the place, and well look, and the main, the main purposes of it is we're having a bit of fun.

But look, just don't get caught up in any of this nonsense with these people. I mean, there's so many scams out there. Just do your homework, please.

Oh, there's lots of bits of jewelry that apparently can protect you from nuclear fallout and, uh,

wow.

Invasion, little pendants you can wear. And there's.

Devices you can plug into your phone and there's ate,

there's little divining devices you can rattle around over your body and that tells, tells you where you're sick. Uh, that's really interesting because I thought your body was meant to tell you where it's sick. Um, well, you couldn't rely on the old system.

I was over in New Zealand and I, I heard of some of the stuff that was going on over there recently about, you know, products being sold. Marketed and anyway, I mean like the old home shopping show hoodie, isn't it? You know, the old uh, yeah, the steak knives.

Yeah.

Anyone would've said a steak knife.

What was his name?

That bloke that, uh,

it was Joe the Gadget Band. I remember Joe,

Joe, the gadget man from Knocking Kirbys, knock Kirby's. Yep.

And, uh, the Dem tell bloke, what was his face

Dem uh. Yeah. Oh, what was his name? Uh, he was, he was the one that said You got a free set of steak knives.

Yeah. Yes. Right.

Dem tell remember that?

Yeah. Well, apparently the in independent media, oh, shout, shout out to Robin from Carriages The Cure.

Mm-hmm.

Have you caught up with what's been going on there?

No, I haven't lately. No.

Well, Robin got set upon by, uh, by Jody Lowe, apparently. And, um. It really knocked the daylights out of her. She's going through a hard time and, uh, you know, here we go again.

Uh, you know, people foreign from the hip, um, shooting their, shooting their own in the, in the back, in the trenches. Oh, I dunno, look, I dunno what it was all about. But, but goodness sake, give it a rest. Just give it a rest, leave people alone, you know, and, uh, it really, it sent Robin to the wall, that whole thing.

And it's just, it's, she doesn't deserve it. She's out there doing her best in her space. And she's a good person. We've had her on the show a couple of times and she's a, she's a really good egg. She's taken six weeks off now. Well, if the people who caused her to do that think that there's a benefit in her not doing any, any of the journalism she's been doing for the next six weeks, then I'll go, he, you know, what are you on about?

Just get over yourselves and just get on with it. This whole controlled opposition bullshit. It just insane.

Oh,

I know. It's insane. Nonsense. It's insane. Nice. How many good people?

Yeah, so many of 'em. Uh, you know, croc's, too many to name, but I mean, yeah, I, I, I read something that Maryanne Demas put out the other day, you know, fantastic stuff.

You know, it's really, really quality journalism and it, it's a shame that, uh, we can't get that back into the mainstream at the moment, but we will.

But whatever happened to people ringing people up and saying, Hey, uh, you know. Robin, is it true that this is happening and that's happening instead of, you know, doing this public BS about it?

And, uh, you know, it's just crazy. Uh, Wade North Hasen John putting up a brave fight that I, you know, from what I've seen, he's still struggling really badly. So, thoughts and prayers with you, uh, Wade, a hundred percent weren't, yeah, as we said a million times, we, we haven't always disagreed, but, um, but geez, you're a bloke.

You're a bloke worth, worth backing, and we should all be backing each other.

A hundred percent, you know, um, we should all be back in one another. So for goodness sake, Wade, don't rush back into the fight yet, mate. Don't rush back in. You make sure you get yourself well and look after your own.

Yeah,

and uh, anyway.

Enough said on all that, Johnny. Catch ya.

Yes, thanks Sortie.

See you guys. Bye.
